1 THE COURT: Response?

2 MR. WHITESELL: Your Honor, Lee Whitesell again for
3 Plaintiffs.

4 I think a lot of this angst is probably the result of
5 just overbroad drafting of this MIL. The way that it's
6 worded is evidence, testimony, attorney argument or other
7 comments regarding the Court's preliminary injunction, TRO
8 or any other court order. So we had to object to that to 9 the extent that it could be read to preclude us from 10 entering some of the same evidence that was used.

11 THE COURT: Well, clearly, the evidence, argument and 12 all that is -- and Mr. Sayles even admitted that. He's not
13 precluding that, even though that's the way it's worded.
14 That's true that's too broad.

15 MR. WHITESELL: We appreciate that.

16 THE COURT: Are you trying to get it into -- let me
17 make sure I understand any additional argument. You're not
18 trying to discuss that the injunction was issued?

19 MR. WHITESELL: No, Your Honor. And we would be fine
20 with a chastened version of this that just precludes the 21 parties from referring to the Court's preliminary injunction
22 without first approaching the bench.

23 THE COURT: Okay. Then I can go ahead and grant that
24 as modified and make it mutual.

25 MR. SAYLES: Yes.
